TERRITORIAL NOTES.

The voice of the salvation army is heard in Prescott.

The assessment roll of Cochise county foots up $3,385,000.

Tombstone has a restaurant christened "Can-Can." Can you?

The public schools in Tucson will open on Tuesday, September 15.

The district court of Yavapai county has adjourned until October 5.

Several parties in Mineral Park are making a business of chicken stealing.

The district court calendar for Yuma county contains only four criminal cases.

E. W. Aram, who was a member of the "thirteenth," is now practicing law in San Jose, California.

A car load of silver ore, recently shipped from Kingman, netted the owner over $1,500 clear of all expenses.

There is a saloon in Nogalls so near the line of Mexico that you have to leave the United States to get to the door.

The canal enterprises on the Gila and Salt rivers are bringing thousands of acres of agricultural land under cultivation.

The sampling works at Kingman have passed into the hands of the Pueblo Smelting and Refining company of Colorado.

A thirty ton smelter is being erected at Cerbat, and it is the intention of the owner to reduce ore at the low price of $12 per ton.

The credit of the recent killing of the Apaches in the southern part of the territory belongs to Lieutenant Day, of the Ninth cavalry, and the scouts in his command.

The mines about Tombstone are reported as turning out a very superior grade of ore, and consequently that camp is in a very flourishing condition.

One hundred German families are expected in Yuma in a few weeks, whose intention is to colonize a large section of country on the Colorado river, north of that place.

Long-Necked-Charley, a notorious horse thief who for the past two years has stolen numberless animals in Arizona and New Mexico, has been sent to the penitentiary for two years.

The United States fish commissioner says that a large supply of breeding carp will be brought to Arizona this winter, and that the distributing car will pass over the Southern Pacific railroad.

The Salt river valley is capable of producing all kinds of fruits, vegetables and grains that can be grown in any country, and all that it now needs to make its thrifty inhabitants happy is rapid communication and low freights.

David Nicholson and a companion in attempting to journey from Yuma to the Paymaster Mining Company's mine, a distance of sixty miles, became lost and after wandering about for three days, without water, were found by a searching party. Nicholson was dead and his companion was in a dying condition, and only about a hundred yards from water.

A territorial exchange says "that a cave has been discovered in Apache county that is 1,000 feet long, 15 feet wide and about 12 feet high. At the point farthest from the entrance is said to have been found about 168 clay dishes beautifully painted and no two alike. The aborigines of that section of country seem to know nothing of the cave or its contents." Undoubtedly the effects of an over dose of watermelons and an after-dinner nap.

LIVE STOCK NEWS.

Items of Interest to Stockmen, Gathered from Reliable Sources.

Cattle through Arizona are advancing in price steadily, notwithstanding the daily influx.

Cheyenne Journal: The president's remark as he issued the fence proclamation: "Wire are these fences not coming down?"

Deming Tribune: We have been shown a contract for the delivery of 600 head of cattle at the San Carlos reservation at $2.25 per 100 pounds, signed by the Carralitos cattle company, of Old Mexico. They are to be delivered before October 1. Mr. Lindauer states that he is having no trouble to fill his contract at a fair profit.

Albuquerque Democrat: Joe Hampson returned from the east yesterday, and was warmly welcomed by his host of friends. He has arranged to ship a lot of beef steers from his Arizona ranch to a point in Kansas, where they will be fed and allowed time to recuperate before being placed in the market.

Phoenix Gazette: At the last session of the Arizona legislature a law was passed requiring all stock brands to be recorded, and stockmen should bear this fact in mind. If you do not have your brand recorded with the recorded brand. This is important, gentlemen, and should not be neglected.

Denver Times: The twelve thousand or more stock brands now on file in the secretary of state's office afford an interesting field of study. The display of ingenuity in the matter of forming combinations is remarkable. The number of combinations upon any one letter is surprising. There are, for instance, over 550 on the letter H; 150 or more on both C and D; no less than 100 each on B and F, and so on through the alphabet.

Abilene, Texas, Magnetic Quill: Colonel T. L. Odom, is in town. He has bought six claims of land in Arizona, on Black river. He has six springs of fine water on this land, the source of several streams containing many large, speckled, mountain trout. The claims give him the benefit of a large territory—twenty miles square—of fine grass. He will put 2,000 head of cattle on the ranch to stock it. The colonel is a success in the ranch business.

New Mexico Stock Grower: "Grass on the staked plains is knee high," is the report of all trail drovers who have come over that section this season. The staked plains are in extent 300 miles long by 200 wide, and there are but few cattle on this great grazing area. All that is necessary to take advantage of this magnificent range is to procure water, which can be found, it has been demonstrated in many cases, at a very short depth, and by means of artesian wells flowing water could be had on every range.

Tucson Times: It is said that the Atlantic & Pacific railroad company are receiving applications from the cattlemen who have been required to vacate the Indian territory for the purchase of large tracts of the company's land for ranch purposes. The advantages to be derived by the company from such an arrangement are very great, and will no doubt be appreciated by its managers. The money received from the sale of lands, even at a very low rate, would amount to a large sum, while the revenues from the cattle traffic would increase every year and add very largely to the earnings of the road.

MISCELLANEOUS NEWS.

There are fifteen taxed Chinese laundries in Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Snow has been seen on the summit of the Sandia mountains, in New Mexico.

One of the novel features of the Albuquerque fair will be the cowboy tournament.

A telegraph line has been completed across the desert from Calico to Daggett, California.

And now some crank wants the bodies of Generals Grant and Lee buried in one common grave.

Santa Fe, New Mexico, has a total population of 5,970, being the largest town in that territory.

About $12,000 is paid out each month to employees at the Billing smelter near Socorro, New Mexico.

The Navajo Indians are said to have 1,500,000 head of sheep, 500,000 head of horses, and cattle in proportion.

Yellow fever is raging in the cities of Mazatlan and Tehauntepec, Mexico, and also in some of the smaller cities.

Walter M. Wilson, late private secretary to Attorney-General Garland, is now stenographer of the third district court of New Mexico.

The southern Utes are reported as in a starving condition, and unless the government comes to their rescue they threaten to go on the war-path.

James T. Holland, of Aberdeen, Texas, shot and killed a stock-broker named Davis, in New York, last week. Holland claims that the shooting was done in self-defense, and looks upon his arrest as a mere formality.

The gold bullion, valued at $19,000, which was stolen from the Magdalena mine, in Sonora, Mexico, has been recovered by a compromise with the thief, by which the latter secures a large slice of the booty.

The resignation of Major Llewellyn, agent for the Mescalero Apaches, has been accepted by the president. Mr. Llewellyn had been agent for these Indians for several years, and is reported as being a very efficient officer.

Tom Ashton, a bunko steerer who formerly plied his vocations in New Mexico and Arizona, is now in jail at El Paso, Texas, with a fair prospect of lingering for a few years in the penitentiary. He beat and kicked a Chinaman, who will probably die.

A recent decision from the general land office, at Washington, says that the grant to the Atlantic & Pacific railroad company did not become effective until the map designating the line of the road was filed in the general land office, and the depositing of such a map in the office of the secretary cannot be construed as a filing in the commissioner's office.

The New Mexico Stock Grower, speaking in regard to the Zuni Indian lands which are now being used as stock ranches by Americans, says that Commissioner Sparks has determined that the boundary of the Zuni Indian reservation in New Mexico has been wrongfully construed, and without inquiry or survey he will simply so change the line as to restore to the Indians a large tract of land recently taken from the reservation by executive order, and upon which Mr. Tucker, of Illinois, and a number of others, including some prominent army officers, have asserted extensive claims. The exact results of this change cannot yet be determined. John A. Logan assisted to engineer the little scheme through whereby the lines were originally changed. It was a dead steal.
